SENATE PASSES MEASURE FOR ARMY OF A MILLION

Peace Strength of Regular Establishment Placed at 250,000 Men

Washington, D. C., April 19. An army reorganization bill that would produce regular army and reserve military forces in the United States aggregating 1,000,000 men was passed by the senate last night at 9.05 o'clock without a record vote. It is a substitute for the Hay bill passed by the house and the differences will be worked out in conference.

On the eve of a joint session of the houses of congress to hear a message from the President on grave international issues, the senate hastened completion of the bill amid scenes of excitement, repeatedly rejecting all amendments pending to reduce the proposed strengthening of the army.

As the bill passed it carried provisions for increasing the regular army to 250,000 men, the coast artillery to 21,700 men and provided for military training in certain schools and colleges. The bill also will compel respect for the uniform of the army and navy, as it provides punishment for common carriers, theatre, restaurant and all persons and corporations found guilty of discriminating against those who wear the national uniform.

A. L. COLE INTERESTED IN SUIT IN MCKEAN COUNTY

Local Attorney, With Two Others, Suing W. A. James and Others for $41,250 Fees.

Papers have been filed in Smithport in actions brought by Attorneys A. L. Cole, of this city, A. P. Huey, of Kane, and F. D. Gallup, of Smithport, against W. A. James and others.

In the declaration the three attorneys make claim, for $13,750 each, a total of $41,250, for fees for legal service in litigation in matters affecting the James corporations. The filing of the declaration paves the way for a jury trial to determine the amount to which the three attorneys are entitled for their services.

Answer will be filed, it is understood, in which claim will be made that the amount is excessive.

A settlement of $20,000 was offered, $18,000 for the years 1911, 1912 and 1913 with an additional $2,000 for 1915, there having been little litigation during last year.

The suits are the outgrowth of the James litigation which originated about five years ago and which has resulted in court proceedings in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Ordinance Will Be Passed Calling For Vote On $84,000 Bond Issue

The borough council will meet this evening for the purpose of passing an ordinance calling for a vote on May 16 on the proposed $84,000 bond issue for putting into permanent repair the borough streets. At the last meeting the bond issue was recommended and a vote taken on the question but the necessary ordinance to put the proposition before the voters of this town was not passed. Borough solicitor Carey has drawn up the ordinance which will be voted on by the council tonight. It is expected to receive an unanimous vote in its favor.

13 BUILDINGS AT MORRISDALE BURN—LOSS IS $25,000

Flames Swept By Gale Spread Through Mining Town Holding Firemen at Bay

King's Hotel Destroyed—Fire Started Of Unknown Origin in Home of George Hills—Theatre and Barber Shop Among Destroyed Buildings.

Fire starting in the home of George Hills of unknown origin, threatened to wipe out the entire central part of Morrisdale yesterday afternoon and was extinguished only after damage amounting to $25,000 was done. Thirteen buildings were destroyed and eleven families made homeless by the flames.

The first started in the residence of George Hills on the main street and as there was no one in the building at the time, the cause is not known. The flames swept by a high wind soon spread to adjoining buildings and in a short time destroyed them. Very little furniture was saved as the flames spread rapidly.

Mrs. Hills had just left the building and was boarding a street car bound for Philipsburg when a passerby discovered the flames and sent out the warning. The Philipsburg and Morrisdale fire departments put up a stubborn struggle against the flames and succeeded in extinguishing them after a three hours battle. The residence and store of John Howe were saved by the good management of the firemen.

The following is a list of the buildings destroyed:
King's hotel, barn and ice house.
House belonging to Charles Woomer.
House belonging to Charles Trumbell.
House belonging to Miles Flegal.
Trumbell's Barber shop.
Three double houses belonging to the Morrisdale Coal company.
All the houses were occupied.

MANUAL TRAINING STUDENTS BUILD MANY BIRD HOUSES

Model Dining Hall will be Furnished By Students Of The High School

Ten Chairs Already Built and Work Will Start Soon on Table and Buffet—Typewriter Desk Being Constructed.

The Manual Training department of the High School have on display in Dooley and Stewart's Drug store window, a number of handsome bird houses, which were made by students in the department during the winter. The houses are the best which have been made in the department and much skill of the young carpenters is evident in the construction.

Some of the houses are constructed from bark of trees which gave them a natural appearance and will be more readily inhabited by the birds. They are well planned and are artistically built.

The members of the Freshman class and the eight grade have constructed many pieces of furniture this year which will be used in the new High School building now under construction.

Ten beautiful dining room tables have been constructed and work will soon be started on a large dining room table and buffet which will be used for furnishing the model dining hall of the new building. The model dining hall will be used for training the younger pupils and will be connected with the Domestic Science department.

Thirteen typewriter desks have been built for use in the Commercial department. Twenty mechanical drawing tables are under construction which will be used in the manual Training department. A complete course in Mechanical drawing will be taught next year besides the regular courses in that department.

President Tells Joint Session of Congress of Act which may Result in Immediate Break with German Government Over Sub Policy

STONE BLOCKS PHELAN'S EFFORT TO TEMPORIZE

"Unless the Imperial German government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present method of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations of this government with the German Empire."—Declaration of the President at the chair of his message to congress, which he read at a joint session beginning at one o'clock.

Washington, April 19.—(By United Press)—President Wilson today dispatched a note to Germany declaring that she must change her present submarine methods immediately if friendly relations with the United States are to continue. At one o'clock he went before congress and defined the step he has taken. Members of the senate and house foreign relations committees today were appraised of the character of the message to Germany and made known their approval.

Note is An Ultimatum
The communication to Germany differs from an actual ultimatum in that it is stated, only in that it carries no time limit for the cessation of U-boat activities, though plainly indicating that the present submarine policy must be discontinued immediately. The exact nature of the note sent to Germany was revealed by the President's address to congress.

The President left the white house at 12:30 and arrived at the house chamber at one o'clock. He began reading his message at one o'clock. The floor was crowded with senators and representatives and the galleries were filled with visitors. Mrs. Wilson reached the hall fifteen minutes before the President appeared and took a seat in the gallery.

"Unless the Imperial German government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present method of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations of this government with the German Empire." This declaration was made by President Wilson at the climax of his message in which he indicated in severest terms the German submarine campaign.

President Expresses Regret

"This decision I have arrived at," the President stated, "with the keenest regret." After reviewing the submarine situation, the President said:

"Notwithstanding the urgent protests of our government, the Imperial German government has continued to carry out the policy it first announced. This government was assured that the danger to merchant vessels would be reduced to a minimum and this government was also assured that Germany would take every possible precaution both with respect to lives of non-combatants and to safeguard the lives of non-combatants.

"In pursuance of the policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, it was entered upon in spite of the solemn protests of the government, the commanders of German undersea boats have attacked merchant ships with greater and greater activity not only in the water surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, but wherever they could encounter them, in a way that has grown more and more ruthless, more and more indiscriminate in the last few months, less and less observant of neutrality of any kind, and have delivered their attacks (without compunction) against vessels of every nationality and bound upon every sort of errand."

Defends Armed Ships

"Vessels of neutral ownership even vessels of neutral ownership bound from neutral port to neutral port, have been destroyed along with vessels of belligerent ownership in constantly increasing numbers. In February of the present year the Imperial German government informed this government and the other neutral governments of the world that it had reason to believe that Great Britain had armed all merchant vessels of British ownership and had given them secret orders to attack any submarine of the enemy they might encounter upon the seas and that the Imperial German government felt justified under the circumstances in treating all armed merchantmen of belligerent ownership as auxiliary vessels of war, which it would have the right to destroy without warning. The law of nations has long recognized the right of merchantmen to carry arms for protection, to use them to repel attack though to use them at such circumstances at their own risk. That the Imperial German government claimed the right to set these understandings aside in circumstances which it deemed necessary."

Assurances Violated

"Even the terms in which it announced its purpose to further relax the restraint it had expressed its willingness and desire to put upon the submarine commanders' orders that at least vessels which were unarmed would be exempted from destruction without warning and that the passengers and crew would be safe guarded. Again and again the Imperial German government has given this government the solemn assurance that at least passenger ships would not be attacked. The undersea commanders have disregarded the assurance and have captured unarmed ships and have killed the passengers and crew. It has therefore become evident that the action which this government took at the very outset is inevitable, viz: that the use of submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce is a violation of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves. The Imperial German government has been able to put no limit or restraint on its policy against either freight or passenger ships. It has therefore become evident that the action which this government took at the very outset is inevitable, viz: that the use of submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce is a violation of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves."

Stone Blocks Phelan's Move

Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee today blocked a resolution of senator Phelan, of California to declare that the United States still holds hope for the settlement of international difficulties by arbitration.

regard as wanton and without the slightest quality of justice.

The Sussex Case

"One of the latest and most shocking instances of the method of warfare was that of the destruction of the French cross channel steamer Sussex, which stood forth with the sinking of the steamer Lusitania as an unjustifiable act and such as to constitute a sample of the humanity of submarine warfare as the commanders of German submarines have for the past twelve months been conducting it. If this instance stands alone, some explanation, some disavowal by the government, some explanation of criminal mistake or wilful disobedience on the part of the commander of the vessel that fired the torpedo might be sought or entertained, but it does not stand alone. Recent instances make the conclusion inevitable that it is only one instance even though it be one of the most extreme and distressing instances, of the spirit and method of warfare which the Imperial German government has adopted and which from the first that government has followed thrusting neutral lives aside in pursuit of its immediate object."

Patience Exhausted

"The government of the United States has been very patient at every stage of this distressing incident. Time after time in which its own interests were involved it has sought to keep from any extreme course of action by thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of this unprecedented war and actuated in all that was said or done by the sentiment of genuine friendship which the people of the United States have always entertained and continue to entertain for the German nation."

Hoping Against Hope

The assurances of the Imperial German government as given and as hoped even against hope that it would prove to be possible for the German government so to order and control the act of its submarine commanders as to square its policy with the principles of humanity as embodied in the laws of nations. It has been willing to wait until the significance of the act became absolutely unmistakable and susceptible of but one interpretation. That point has now undoubtedly been reached. The facts are susceptible of but one interpretation. The Imperial German government has been able to put no limit or restraint on its policy against either freight or passenger ships. It has therefore become evident that the action which this government took at the very outset is inevitable, viz: that the use of submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce is a violation of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves."

MOVING THE HIGHWAY OFFICE.

If politics has a hand in the proposal to remove the office of the district highway engineer from Clearfield to DuBois, steps should at once be taken to prevent the action. If, after careful inquiry, it develops that the district can be handled better from that city than from Clearfield, there should be no word of protest from Clearfield, for this town does not want to stand in the way of efficiency, even at the cost of losing the prestige the office gives us.

The supposition that a diplomatic break with Germany must of necessity be followed by a declaration of war is erroneous, although the possibility of a state of war arising out of the situation is by no means remote.

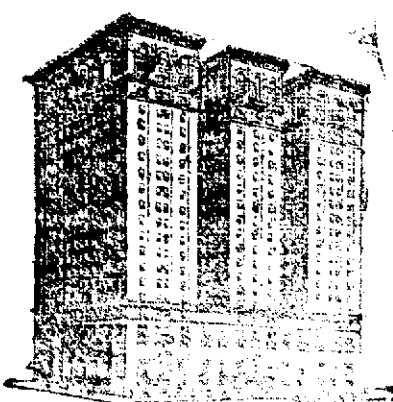

Should von Bernstorff be handed his passports by Secretary Lansing, and Ambassador Gerard be recalled from Berlin, the official relations between this country and Germany, as they are now conducted directly by the representatives of the two governments, would cease, although it would be impossible completely to sever all government relations by reason of national interests which are principally commercial. To care for whatever intercourse this condition might make necessary each government would exchange its affairs to some representative of a neutral government in the two capitals who could act in the same capacity for us and for Germany as we are now acting for the central powers in the countries with which they are at war and for the allies in the capitals of the central powers.

In recent months there has been no end to the discussion of what may happen should we break with Germany. It is by no means a minority opinion that the Kaiser's government will accept such action on our part as an act of hostility which will call for a declaration of war by the German government.

In the event of a state of war finally existing, the situation would not materially change from the condition which would result from a diplomatic break. Germany is not in an aggressive position, so far as we are concerned, and could not possibly extend hostile operations against the United States further than the confiscation of American interests in Germany. We, on the other hand, are in position materially to weaken her by shutting off the supplies of foodstuffs and war materials which are finding access to Germany through the neutral ports of Denmark and others adjacent to the German empire.

Whether a diplomatic break or a state of war finally will exist depends entirely upon the administration. It can be beaten into Germany that the United States has adopted a single policy which she will stick to, Germany will not risk the sacrifices which either condition will require of her for the questionable satisfaction of persisting in her inhuman submarine policy. If this government refuses further to discuss the question resting its case upon the statement which is to go forward to Berlin today and turns deaf ears to Bernstorff's further protestations in defense of the submarine policy, Berlin will put a sudden end to the business of sinking neutral vessels without warning, jeopardizing American lives, and all the other practices to which this government, in the name of humanity, has objected over a period of nearly two years. All that is needed now—and that ever has been needed—is determination to stick to any one of the dozen or so convenient (convenient) situations which we have addressed to the Kaiser since the Lusitania outrage. Germany is too intelligent to misunderstand firmness; and that quality in our representations will be detected just as soon as it is made a permanent part of our policy.

PROF. STUART FINDS RELIEF FROM CATARRH

Well Known Instructor of Mathematics in Erie High School Praises Tanlac

Prof. R. R. Stuart, teacher of mathematics in the Erie High school, who resides at 151 E. Sixth avenue, Erie, Pa., made the following conservative but interesting statement regarding the benefits he received from Tanlac, the celebrated new combatant, tonic appetizer and invigorant that is now being so widely discussed and distributed in this city and vicinity.

Prof. Stuart said:

"I have suffered intensely from both bronchial and nasal catarrh. I also had a severe case of indigestion which caused me equally as much annoyance and inconvenience.

"My symptoms were pains in my abdomen, a distressed feeling after eating, susceptibility to cold, inflamed bronchial tubes and nasal passages, discharges of catarrhal mucus, and an offensive breath.

"On November 29, my attention was attracted to the Tanlac advertisement in the Erie newspapers. I concluded to test the new medicine.

"Within three days' time, after beginning the use of Tanlac, I noticed a marked improvement in my condition. The inflammation has disappeared from my bronchial tubes and nasal passages, my digestion is almost perfect, and I am generally better.

"I recently fell and broke my arm. I lost much strength as a result of this accident. Tanlac has been a great aid in recovering that lost strength."

Tanlac is now sold in Clearfield exclusively by Woodward & McPherson where the premier preparation can be had.

MAINE INVITES SUMMER VISITORS

Augusta, Me., April 19.—Tens of thousands of postcards bearing pictures of Maine scenery were started today on journeys that will take them to every nook and corner of the country. The picture postcard campaign was planned as a feature of "Come to Maine Day," the object of which is to attract an increased number of visitors to the Pine Tree State this year. Every resident in Maine was asked to send to friends or acquaintances outside the State at least six of the postcards. The plan was originated by the Bangor Chamber of Commerce and officially endorsed by Governor Curtis, who issued a proclamation calling attention to the campaign.

SPORT NOTES

Fifty-two former Federal league players are now with major league outfits. What has become of the other seven Fed teams?

Ty Cobb lost and recovered a $600 diamond ring before the regular season opened. Which shows that Ty still possesses his old-time speed.

If Larry Doyle continues to clout the ball, Benny Kauff will find plenty to do if he keeps pace with the Giants' captain.

Minus two star performers, Tris Speaker and Joe Wood, the Boston Red Sox look to be somewhat faded. But as Dr. Carrigan says, "there is hope."

The Pennsylvania baseball league has blossomed forth, and strange to say Al Lawson had no part in organizing the new circuit.

"Tod" Sloan, Clyde Milan's pitching wonder, has been given the gate by Washington. He has been placed with the Nashville Southern league team for a little more seasoning.

Manager Hugh Jennings says he would not have Hal Chase on the Detroit team because the star first baseman is a disturber. Perhaps this is Hughie's start to land Hal for the Tigers.

When Manager Rowland of the White Sox heard that Tris Speaker had been sold to Cleveland he promptly declared that the White Sox had the pennant clinched. If the pennant depends solely on Tris why not give Cleveland a look-in?

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, messy breath or stomach, becomes rank, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent cathartics, which is a dangerous, debilitating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

GOLD FILLED GLASSES AS LOW AS $1.00.

Rubin & Rubin, Harrisburg's leading eye specialists will be at Woodward & McPherson's drug store, Monday, April 17th for one week only. These good eye specialists will examine your eyes free and fit you with a pair of glasses as low as $1.00. On account of the number of people who come in to see these good eye specialists during their stay, we would suggest that those who can should come in the morning. For the convenience of those who cannot conveniently call during the day, they will be at the drug store every evening during their stay until 9:00 P. M.

SENATE PASSES MEASURE FOR ARMY OF A MILLION

Peace Strength of Regular Establishment Placed at 250,000 Men

Washington, D. C., April 19. An army reorganization bill that would produce regular army and reserve military forces in the United States aggregating 1,000,000 men was passed by the senate last night at 9.05 o'clock without a record vote. It is a substitute for the Hay bill passed by the house and the differences will be worked out in conference.

On the eve of a joint session of the houses of congress to hear a message from the President on grave international issues, the senate hastened completion of the bill amid scenes of excitement, repeatedly rejecting all amendments pending to reduce the proposed strengthening of the army.

As the bill passed it carried provisions for increasing the regular army to 250,000 men, the coast artillery to 21,700 men and provided for military training in certain schools and colleges. The bill also will compel respect for the uniform of the army and navy, as it provides punishment for common carriers, theatre, restaurant and all persons and corporations found guilty of discriminating against those who wear the national uniform.

A. L. COLE INTERESTED IN SUIT IN MCKEAN COUNTY

Local Attorney, With Two Others, Suing W. A. James and Others for $41,250 Fees.

Papers have been filed in Smithport in actions brought by Attorneys A. L. Cole, of this city, A. P. Huey, of Kane, and F. D. Gallup, of Smithport, against W. A. James and others.

In the declaration the three attorneys make claim for $13,750 each, a total of $41,250, for fees for legal service in litigation in matters affecting the James corporations. The filing of the declaration paves the way for a jury trial to determine the amount to which the three attorneys are entitled for their services.

Answer will be filed, it is understood, in which claim will be made that the amount is excessive.

A settlement of $20,000 was offered, $18,000 for the years 1911, 1912 and 1913 with an additional $2,000 for 1915, there having been little litigation during last year.

The suits are the outgrowth of the James litigation which originated about five years ago and which has resulted in court proceedings in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

13 BUILDINGS AT MORRISDALE BURN—LOSS IS $25,000

Flames Swept By Gale Spread Through Mining Town Holding Firemen at Bay

King's Hotel Destroyed—Fire Started Of Unknown Origin in Home of George Hills—Theatre and Barber Shop Among Destroyed Buildings.

Fire starting in the home of George Hills of unknown origin, threatened to wipe out the entire central part of Morrisdale yesterday afternoon and was extinguished only after damage amounting to $25,000 was done. Thirteen buildings were destroyed and eleven families made homeless by the flames.

The first started in the residence of George Hills on the main street and as there was no one in the building at the time, the cause is not known. The flames swept by a high wind soon spread to adjoining buildings and in a short time destroyed them. Very little furniture was saved as the flames spread rapidly.

Mrs. Hills had just left the building and was boarding a street car bound for Philipsburg when a passerby discovered the flames and sent out the warning. The Philipsburg and Morrisdale fire departments put up a stubborn struggle against the flames and succeeded in extinguishing them after a three hours battle. The residence and store of John Howe were saved by the good management of the firemen.

The following is a list of the buildings destroyed:

- King's hotel, barn and ice house.
- House belonging to Charles Woomer.
- House belonging to Charles Trumbull.
- House belonging to Miles Flegal.
- Trumbull's Barber shop.
- Three double houses belonging to the Morrisdale Coal company.
- All the houses were occupied.

MANUAL TRAINING STUDENTS BUILD MANY BIRD HOUSES

Model Dining Hall will be Furnished By Students Of The High School

Ten Chairs Already Built and Work Will Start Soon on Table and Buffet—Typewriter Desks Being Constructed.

The Manual Training department of the High School have on display in Dooley and Stewart's Drug store window, a number of handsome bird houses, which were made by students in the department during the winter. The houses are the best which have been made in the department and much skill of the young carpenters is evident in the construction.

Some of the houses are constructed from bark of trees which gave them a natural appearance and will be more readily inhabited by the birds. They are well planned and are artistically built.

The members of the Freshman class and the eight grade have constructed many pieces of furniture this year which will be used in the new High School building now under construction.

Ten beautiful dining room tables have been constructed and work will soon be started on a large dining room table and buffet which will be used for furnishing the model dining hall of the new building. The model dining hall will be used for training the younger pupils and will be connected with the Domestic Science department.

Thirteen typewriter desks have been built for use in the Commercial department. Twenty mechanical drawing tables are under construction which will be used in the manual training department. A complete course in Mechanical drawing will be taught next year besides the regular courses in that department.

President Tells Joint Session of Congress of Act which may Result in Immediate Break with German Government Over Sub Policy

"Unless the Imperial German government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present method of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations of this government with the German Empire."—Declaration of the President at the close of his message to congress, which he read at a joint session beginning at one o'clock.

Washington, April 19.—(By United Press)—President Wilson today dispatched a note to Germany declaring that she must change her present submarine methods immediately if friendly relations with the United States are to continue. At one o'clock he went before congress and defined the step he has taken. Members of the senate and house foreign relations committees today were appraised of the character of the message to Germany and made known their approval.

Note is An Ultimatum

The communication to Germany differs from an actual ultimatum in that it carries no time limit for the cessation of U-boat activities, though plainly indicating that the present submarine policy must be discontinued immediately. The exact nature of the note sent to Germany was revealed by the President's address to congress.

The President left the white house at 12:30 and arrived at the house chamber at one o'clock. He began reading his message at one o'clock. The floor was crowded with senators and representatives and the galleries were filled with visitors. Mrs. Wilson reached the hall fifteen minutes before the President appeared and took a seat in the gallery.

"Unless the Imperial German government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present method of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations of this government with the German Empire." This declaration was made by President Wilson at the climax of his message in which he indicated in severest terms the German submarine campaign.

President Expresses Regret

"This decision I have arrived at," the President stated, "with the keenest regret." After reviewing the submarine situation, the President said:

"Notwithstanding the urgent protests of our government, the Imperial German government has continued to carry out the policy it first announced. This government was asured that the danger to merchant vessels would be reduced to a minimum and this government was also assured that Germany would take every possible precaution both with respect to lives of non-combatants and to safeguard the lives of non-combatants.

"In pursuance of the policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, it was entered upon in spite of the solemn protests of the government, the commanders of German undersea boats have attacked merchant ships with greater and greater activity not only in the water surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, but wherever they could encounter them, in a way that has grown more and more ruthless, more and more indiscriminate in the last few months, less and less observant of neutrality of any kind, and have delivered their attacks (without compunction) against vessels of every nationality and bound upon every sort of errand."

Defends Armed Ships

"Vessels of neutral ownership even vessels of neutral ownership bound from neutral port to neutral port, have been destroyed along with vessels of belligerent ownership in constantly increasing numbers. In February of the present year the Imperial German government informed this government and the other neutral governments of the world that it had reason to believe that Great Britain had armed all merchant vessels of British ownership and had given them secret orders to attack any submarine of the enemy they might encounter upon the seas and that the Imperial German government felt justified under the circumstances in treating all armed merchantmen of belligerent ownership as auxiliary vessels of war, which it would have the right to destroy without warning. The law of nations has long recognized the right of merchantmen to carry arms for protection, to use them to repel attack though to use them at such circumstances at their own risk. That the Imperial German government claimed the right to set these understandings aside in circumstances which it deemed necessary."

Assurances Violated

"Even the terms in which it announced its purpose to further relax the restraint it had expressed its willingness and desire to put upon the submarine commanders' orders that at least vessels which were unarmed would be exempted from destruction without warning and that the passengers and crew would be safe guarded. Again and again the Imperial German government has given this government the solemn assurance that at least passenger ships would not be attacked. The undersea commanders have disregarded the assurance and have captured and sunk unarmed passenger ships, freight ships and cargo ships. The lives of neutral passengers and crew have been sacrificed wholesale in the manner which the government of the United States cannot but regard as wanton and without the slightest quality of justice.

"The Sussex Case
"One of the latest and most shocking instances of the method of warfare was that of the destruction of the French cross channel steamer Sussex, which stood forth with the sinking of the steamer Lusitania as an unjustifiable act and such as to constitute a sample of the humanity of submarine warfare as the commanders of German submarines have for the past twelve months been conducting it. If this instance stands alone, some explanation, some disavowal by the government, some explanation of criminal mistake or wilful disobedience on the part of the commander of the vessel that fired the torpedo might be sought or entertained, but it does not stand alone. Recent instances make the conclusion inevitable that it is only one instance even though it be one of the most extreme and distressing instances, of the spirit and method of warfare which the Imperial German government has adopted and which from the first that government has followed thrusting neutral lives aside in pursuit of its immediate object."

Patience Exhausted

"The government of the United States has been very patient at every stage of this distressing incident. Time after time in which its own interests were involved it has sought to keep from any extreme course of action by thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of this unprecedented war and actuated in all that was said or done by the sentiment of genuine friendship which the people of the United States have always entertained and continue to entertain for the German nation."

Hoping Against Hope

The assurances of the Imperial German government as given and as hoped even against hope that it would prove to be possible for the German government so to order and control the act of its submarine commanders as to square its policy with the principles of humanity as embodied in the laws of nations. It has been willing to wait until the significance of the act became absolutely unmistakable and susceptible of but one interpretation. That point has now undoubtedly been reached. The facts are susceptible of but one interpretation. The Imperial German government has been able to put no limit or restraint on its policy against either freight or passenger ships. It has therefore become evident that the action which this government took at the very outset is inevitable, viz: that the use of submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce is a violation of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves. Incomprehensible with the principles of humanity as long established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals and the sacred immunity of non-combatants."

Stone Blocks Gaily Move

Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee today declared a resolution of senator Phelan, of California to declare that the United States still holds hope for the settlement of international difficulties by arbitration.

MOVING THE HIGHWAY OFFICE.

If politics has a hand in the proposed to remove the office of the district highway engineer from Clearfield to DuBois, steps should at once be taken to prevent the action. If, after careful inquiry, it develops that the district can be handled better from that city than from Clearfield, there should be no word of protest from Clearfield, for this town does not want to stand in the way of efficiency, even at the cost of losing the prestige the office gives us.

The supposition that a diplomatic break with Germany must of necessity be followed by a declaration of war is erroneous, although the possibility of a state of war arising out of the situation is by no means remote.

Should von Bernstorff be handed his passports by Secretary Lansing, and Ambassador Gerard be recalled from Berlin, the official relations between this country and Germany, as they are now conducted directly by the representatives of the two governments, would cease, although it would be impossible completely to sever all government relations by reason of national interests which are principally commercial. To care for whatever intercourse this condition might make necessary each government would engage its affairs to some representative of a neutral government in the two capitals who could act in the same capacity for us and for Germany as we are now acting for the central powers in the countries with which they are at war and for the allies in the capitals of the central powers.

In recent months there has been no end to the discussion of what may happen should we break with Germany. It is by no means a minority opinion that the Kaiser's government will accept such action on our part as an act of hostility which will call for a declaration of war by the German government.

In the event of a state of war finally existing, the situation would not materially change from the condition which would result from a diplomatic break. Germany is not in an aggressive position, so far as we are concerned, and could not possibly extend hostile operations against the United States further than the confiscation of American interests in Germany. We, on the other hand, are in position materially to weaken her by shutting off the supplies of foodstuffs and war materials which are finding access to Germany through the neutral ports of Denmark and others adjacent to the German empire.

Whether a diplomatic break or a state of war finally will exist depends entirely upon the administration. It can be beaten into Germany that the United States has adopted a single policy which she will stick to, Germany will not risk the sacrifices which either condition will require of her for the questionable satisfaction of persisting in her inhuman submarine policy. If this government refuses further to discuss the question resting its case upon the statement which is to go forward to Berlin today and turns deaf ears to Bernstorff's further protestations in defense of the submarine policy, Berlin will put a sudden end to the business of sinking neutral vessels without warning, jeopardizing American lives, and all the other practices to which this government, in the name of humanity, has objected over a period of nearly two years. All that is needed now—and that ever has been needed—is determination to stick to any one of the dozen or so convenient (convenient) situations which we have addressed to the Kaiser since the Lusitania outrage. Germany is too intelligent to misunderstand firmness; and that quality in our representations will be detected just as soon as it is made a permanent part of our policy.

PROF. STUART FINDS RELIEF FROM CATARRH

Well Known Instructor of Mathematics in Erie High School Praises Tanlac

Prof. R. R. Stuart, teacher of mathematics in the Erie High school, who resides at 151 E. Sixth avenue, Erie, Pa., made the following conservative but interesting statement regarding the benefits he received from Tanlac, the celebrated new combination, tonic appetizer and invigorant that is now being so widely discussed and distributed in this city and vicinity.

Prof. Stuart said: "I have suffered intensely from both bronchial and nasal catarrh. I also had a severe case of indigestion which caused me equally as much annoyance and inconvenience."

"My symptoms were pains in my abdomen, a distressed feeling after eating, susceptibility to cold, inflamed bronchial tubes and nasal passages, discharges of catarrhal mucus, and an offensive breath."

"On November 29, my attention was attracted to the Tanlac advertisement in the Erie newspapers. I concluded to test the new medicine."

"Within three days' time, after beginning the use of Tanlac, I noticed a marked improvement in my condition. The inflammation has disappeared from my bronchial tubes and nasal passages, my digestion is almost perfect, and I am generally better."

"I recently fell and broke my arm. I lost much strength as a result of this accident. Tanlac has been a great aid in recovering that lost strength."

Tanlac is now sold in Clearfield exclusively by Woodward & McPherson where the premier preparation can be had.

MAINE INVITES SUMMER VISITORS

Augusta, Me., April 19.—Tens of thousands of postcards bearing pictures of Maine scenery were started today on journeys that will take them to every nook and corner of the country. The picture postcard campaign was planned as a feature of "Come to Maine Day," the object of which is to attract an increased number of visitors to the Pine Tree State this year. Every resident in Maine was asked to send to friends or acquaintances outside the State at least six of the postcards. The plan was originated by the Bangor Chamber of Commerce and officially endorsed by Governor Curtis, who issued a proclamation calling attention to the campaign.

SPORT NOTES

Fifty-two former Federal league players are now with major league outfits. What has become of the other seven Fed teams?

Ty Cobb lost and recovered a $600 diamond ring before the regular season opened. Which shows that Ty still possesses his old-time speed.

If Larry Doyle continues to clout the ball, Benny Kauff will find plenty to do if he keeps pace with the Giants' captain.

Minus two star performers, Tris Speaker and Joe Wood, the Boston Red Sox look to be somewhat faded. But as Dr. Carrigan says, "there is hope."

The Pennsylvania baseball league has blossomed forth, and strange to say Al Lawson had no part in organizing the new circuit.

"Tod" Sloan, Clyde Milan's pitching wonder, has been given the gate by Washington. He has been placed with the Nashville Southern league team for a little more seasoning.

Manager Hugh Jennings says he would not have Hal Chase on the Detroit team because the star first sacker is a disturber. Perhaps this is Hughie's start to land Hal for the Tigers.

When Manager Rowland of the White Sox heard that Tris Speaker had been sold to Cleveland he promptly declared that the White Sox had the pennant cinched. If the pennant depends solely on Tris why not give Cleveland a look-in?

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, toxic bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, heavy breath or stomach, becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, irritating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, toxic bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

GOLD FILLED GLASSES AS LOW AS $1.00.

Rubin & Rubin, Harrisburg's leading eye specialists will be at Woodward & McPherson's drug store, Monday, April 17th for one week only. These good eye specialists will examine your eyes free and fit you with a pair of glasses as low as $1.00. On account of the number of people who come in to see these good eye specialists during their stay, we would suggest that those who can should come in the morning. For the convenience of those who cannot conveniently call during the day, they will be at the drug store every evening during their stay until 9:00 P. M.
